Who We Are

Code Social is a global tech community where students, developers, and mentors come together to learn, build, and grow. We started with a simple idea: tech feels less overwhelming when you're surrounded by people who support you. Today, we run challenges, mentorship programs, and events that help people turn ideas into real projects.

Why We Do It

Our mission is simple — to make learning technology accessible, hands-on, and community-driven. We believe that by building together, people not only grow their skills but also their confidence and network.

Our Impact (so far)

- 10,000+ members across 20 countries
- 150+ committee members driving projects and events
- 200+ GitHub commits every month through open-source collaborations
- 50+ mentors & speakers who've shared their expertise

Vision

- Our vision is to create a global community where coding and collaboration empower individuals to reach their fullest potential.
- We aim to make technology learning accessible, inclusive, and inspiring for everyone.
- Through innovation and shared knowledge, we strive to shape a future driven by creativity and collective growth.

Mission

- Our mission is to provide a supportive platform where learners and developers can connect, collaborate, and grow together.
- We are committed to offering resources, mentorship, and opportunities that make coding education engaging and accessible.
- By fostering innovation and inclusivity, we aim to empower individuals to turn ideas into impactful solutions.

About the Event

Code Social

Winter of Code Social is a three-month project-building open-source program from November 1 to January 31 that brings together developers, students, and mentors to build impactful projects under mentorship. It focuses on innovation, collaboration, and hands-on learning, helping participants turn ideas into real solutions while enhancing both technical and soft skills.

For sponsors, the event offers a chance to connect with a diverse talent pool, support open-source innovation, and gain visibility by contributing to the growth of the next generation of tech leaders.
