Who We Are

Code Social is a global tech community where students, developers, and mentors come together to learn, build, and grow. We started with a simple idea: tech feels less overwhelming when you're surrounded by people who support you. Today, we run challenges, mentorship programs, and events that help people turn ideas into real projects.

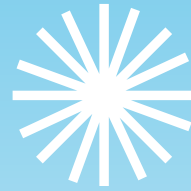

Our community includes students (60%), early-career developers (25%), and professionals (15%) from over 15 countries.

Why We Do It

Our mission is to make learning technology accessible, hands-on, and community-driven. Our vision is a global community where coding and collaboration empower everyone to reach their potential.

Our Impact (so far)

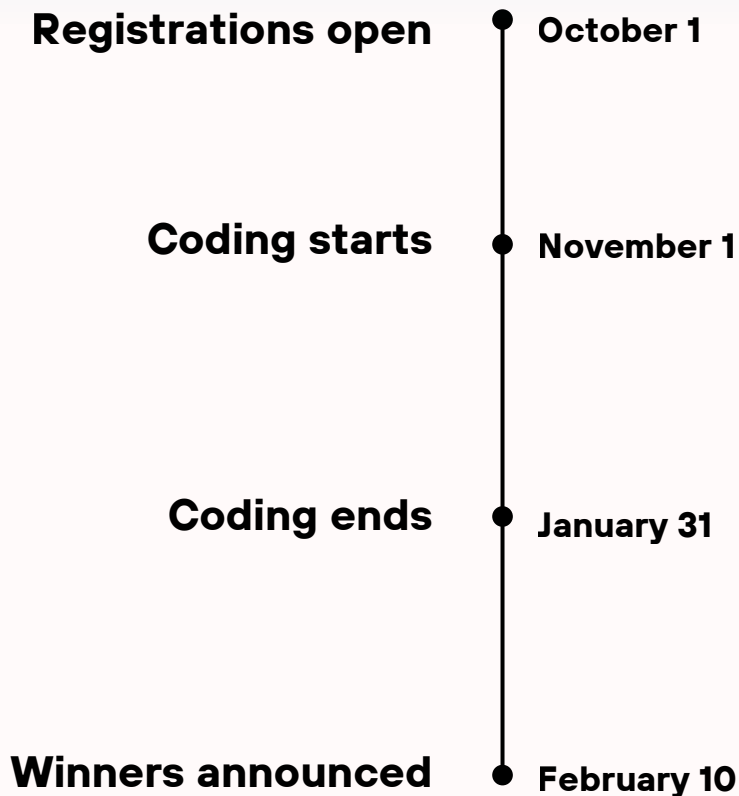

- 10,000+ members across 20 countries
- 150+ committee members driving projects and events
- 200+ GitHub commits every month through open-source collaborations
- 50+ mentors & speakers who've shared their expertise

About the Event

Winter of Code Social is a three-month project-building open-source program from November 1 to January 31 that brings together developers, students, and mentors to build impactful projects under mentorship.

It focuses on innovation, collaboration, and hands-on learning, helping participants turn ideas into real solutions while enhancing both technical and soft skills.

👤 This project challenged me to deepen my skills in React.js and frontend development, while also focusing on UX/UI design principles. I'm proud to have successfully implemented these features to enhance productivity and efficiency in task management.

Thanks Code Social, for your invaluable support in learning React JS. Your e-learning platform made mastering this technology both accessible and enjoyable.
